Cyber Crime Is Your Biggest Threat. Education Is Your Best Defence.

Most businesses are investing millions in locking the back doors of their organisations — firewalls, encryption, threat detection systems — and yet they leave the front door wide open. That door? Your people.

One wrong click, one weak password, one uninformed decision is all it takes to become a statistic.

It's no longer a question of if your business will be targeted — it's when. And when it happens, will your staff be your first line of defence, or your greatest vulnerability?

At the Macquarie University Cyber Skills Academy (CSA), we help businesses lock the front door by embedding practical, high-impact cyber security education into every level of your workforce — from receptionist to CEO.

Our programs have been co-designed with global technology giants — ensuring that every course delivers real-world relevance and proven expertise.

Whether you're training frontline employees, upskilling your middle managers, or deepening the capabilities of your executive and technical teams, our courses are designed to meet you where you are — and grow with you.
